The Chartered Financial Analyst Designation

The Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) designation is a qualification for finance and investment professionals, particularly in the fields of investment management and financial analysis of stocks, bonds and their derivative assets. The program focuses on portfolio management and financial analysis, and provides a general knowledge of other areas of finance.

The designation is an international professional certification offered by the CFA Institute to financial analysts who complete a series of examinations. To become a CFA charter holder, candidates must pass each of three, six-hour exams; possess a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution; and have 48 months of qualified professional work experience. CFA charter holders are also obligated to adhere to a strict Code of Ethics and Standards governing their professional conduct. [www.cfainstitute.org]

The Certified Financial Planner Designation

The Certified Financial Planner (CFP®) designation is granted by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. ("CFP Board") and entails the following requirements:

- Education – (1) A bachelor's degree or higher from an accredited college or university; and (2) completion of coursework on financial planning through a CFP Board Registered Program. Most of the coursework requirement may be waived for an applicant that holds another specified degree, license or credential, including, but not limited to, a CFA.
- Examination – Pass a one-day exam consisting of two 3-hour sessions that include stand-alone and scenario-based questions, as well as questions associated with case studies.
- Experience – Complete either 6,000 hours of professional experience related to the financial planning process, or 4,000 hours of apprenticeship experience that meets additional requirements.
- Ethics – Commit to compliance with CFP Board's Code of Ethics and Standards of Conduct.
- Ongoing certification renewal and continuing education requirements.

Violation of the foregoing requirements may result in the suspension or revocation of a financial professional's CFP® certification.
